THE SIGN OF A GOOD WAGON

OLD HICKORY

WAGON MANUFACTURING COMPANY of Louisville, Ky. They have better wagon history than has ever been made by any others. The famous "OLD HICKORY" wagons are sold by

E. T. Pence

Stanford, Ky.

Newport, Jan. 25, 1911
Kentucky Wagon Mfg. Co., Louisville, Ky.
Gentlemen: I have an "OLD HICKORY" wagon that I have had to steady use for 20 years and the wagon is strong and good yet. I often put a load of 4000 pounds on this wagon and haul over rough ground. It has never been kept under cover. Yours truly,
A. E. BALLEW.

Do you think the "OLD HICKORY" wagon could possibly have served Mr. Ballew so well, lasted through so many years of constant use, carried such excessive loads, stood the abuse it received, and done it all in so thoroughly satisfactory a manner, if it had not been manufactured out of the finest selected timber in the world for axles, hubs, spokes, felloes, boards, bolsters, runways and beds, and then every part built exactly right?

They are Easy Runners and hold the grease well.

AS GOOD WAGONS ARE NOT MADE AT ANY OTHER CO. it will pay you to examine the "OLD HICKORY" before you buy.

Manufactured only by the KENTUCKY WAGON MFG. CO. (Incorporated) DANVILLE, KY.
